

Ben Fulton

Senior Consultant

Position with Firm

2018–present Senior Consultant. Manages projects, including scope, timeline, and budget. Conducts, translates, and analyzes public policy research. Develops reports, strategic plans, and other client deliverables. Facilitates meetings and focus groups.

Previous Professional Experience

2014–2018 Associate and Senior Associate, State Policy, The Pew Charitable Trusts, Washington, D.C. Led project implementation and advocacy in multiple states and counties by identifying opportunities for achieving project goals, analyzing the impact of relevant legislation and regulations, building and managing complex political relationships, developing recommendations, and executing jurisdiction-specific strategic plans.

2012–2014 Policy Analyst and Legislative Senior Aide, Montgomery County Council, Rockville, Maryland. Provided policy analysis and recommendations on legislation, executive regulations, and budgets in several different issue areas, including transportation, health and human services, and public safety. Conducted research and wrote reports, memos, talking points, press releases, and briefing materials to assist in the development and communication of the councilmember's position on key issues.

2011 Policy, Program Management, and Governmental Affairs Intern, Michigan Economic Development Corporation, Lansing, Michigan. Analyzed complex state legislation and collaborated in the management of an important state economic incentive program. Evaluated status reports and supporting documents to determine whether companies were meeting the job creation and capital investment benchmarks set in their legally binding development agreements.

2009 Government Affairs Intern, National Lumber and Building Material Dealers Association, Washington, D.C. Tracked and researched federal legislation and regulatory policy relevant to the association. Wrote action alerts and bill summaries on relevant legislation for the association's website and members.

Education Michigan State University, BA in International Relations